

Impact Investing Internship

Company Description

Positive Ventures is an early-stage venture capital firm with offices in São Paulo and San Francisco, galvanizing support for founders building solutions to the most vexing social and climate challenges with an entrepreneurial and technology-first approach. Positive Ventures is one of the Global South's impact investing powerhouses, with notorious investments such as Eureciclo, Latam's largest exchange for recycling credits transactions and Pachama, amongst the world's largest climate tech focused on nature-based carbon credits and ecosystem restoration.

Role Description

The Impact Investment Intern will join the Impact Investing Squad of Positive Ventures, having first-hand experience in allocating capital to catalyze positive systemic change across North and South America, working side-by-side with the founders and teams of some of the most exciting impact ventures in the region. The role is mainly onsite, at our HQ in São Paulo, but with tons of flexibility, and responsibilities comprises origination, analysis and due diligence, as well as portfolio management and all-around impact measurement and reporting.

Qualifications

- Undergrad in business, economics or engineering, with expected graduation on Dec/24 and beyond;
- Understanding and enthusiasm about Technology, Entrepreneurship, Impact Investing and Venture Capital;
- Verbal and written communication and presentation skills in English and Portuguese - Spanish is a plus;
- Proficiency with Excel, experience with statistical analysis, financial modeling and familiarity with data management and visualization tools;
- Coding proficiency will be considered as an advantage.

In our relentless pursuit of transformative solutions to society's most pressing issues, we recognize that diversity is not just a buzzword, but a critical asset. Therefore, we enthusiastically encourage candidates from historically marginalized communities—including but not limited to ethnic minorities, LGBTQ+ individuals, indigenous peoples, and persons with disabilities—to apply. Your unique perspectives and lived experiences are not merely welcome; they are essential. They serve as catalysts that enrich our collective intelligence, foster genuine innovation, and ultimately equip us to effect systemic change. Here, you're not just filling a role; you're joining a mission-driven coalition designed to alter the status quo. Apply, and let's change the world together.

Apply here!